

Announcement of Competitive Calls

Integrating industry demands into new pilot activities

Q-PorkChains aims at setting up additional pilot and demonstration activities. New industry partners will be integrated via two competitive calls in the beginning of 2009 and 2010 to test the most promising innovations deriving from the project.

The R&D objectives for additional pilot chains will be established at the end of 2008 and for additional demonstration chains at the end of 2009. Companies are invited to propose potential R&D objectives for additional pilot or demonstration activities by contacting the Q-PorkChains Liaison Office. If the industry demands fit well to the Q-PorkChains R&D objectives the suggested topics could likely be chosen.
